All manuscripts submitted to the Journal of Drug Issues are considered to be sent for exclusive review. Manuscripts under consideration by other journals should be not submitted to JDI. Only previously unpublished manuscripts are acceptable.

If copyrighted material is to be used, e.g., photographs or lengthy excerpts, authors must provide permission to use material upon acceptance of manuscript.

Manuscripts should be carefully edited. Sentence fragments, run-on sentences and repetitious words or phrases should be avoided. Spelling, punctuation, subject-verb agreement, and number and person agreement should be correct. For further reference, see the Chicago Manual of Style. If a manuscript requires extensive editing, it will be returned to the author for rewriting.

JDI reviews a manuscript in approximately six weeks and assigns a tentative publication date upon acceptance. Once an article has been prepared for production, every effort is made to publish it in as timely a manner as possible.

Books and other publications sent for review should be addressed to the Book Review Editor, Journal of Drug Issues, P.O. Box 4021, Tallahassee, Florida 32303.
